FOREWORD

This report, authorized by and compiled for the General Assembly of North Carolina, summarizes statistical data and operations of the Prison Department. It does not include audits, which are covered in the biennial report of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, copies of which may be obtained by writing The Auditor, State Highway and Public Works Commission, Raleigh, North Carolina.

INTRODUCTION

The purpose in submitting this report is to present the major improvements in the Prison Department and to present statistical data for the biennium 1952-1954.

I. PROGRESS IN ADMINISTRATION

A Prison Department Guidebook has been prepared in order to consolidate in convenient form provisions pertaining to Prison Administration heretofore scattered through the Constitution, General Statutes, North Carolina Reports, Attorney General's Rulings, Rules and Regulations of the State Highway and Public Works Commission and Prison Department Directives. These provisions are to be supplemented as necessary to provide a complete Guidebook, using as additional source material literature in the field of correctional administration and the informal practices and personal experience of officers and employees of the North Carolina Prison System. When completed, the Prison Department Guidebook will contain chapters on every phase of penal administration.

Personnel is now organized so that only four people are responsible directly to the Director of Prisons. These are the Assistant Director in Charge of Rehabilitation, the Assistant Director in Charge of Field Operations, the Business Manager and the Farm Director. All functions of the department are channeled through these four assistants to the director. The creation of the new position of Sergeant of the Guards, as number three position in the line of authority in camp administration, and the change of the number two position from Steward to Assistant Superintendent has done much toward pin-pointing responsibility and assuring efficient unit operation in both routine management and over-all discipline.

Prison Administrative Offices in Raleigh have been moved from the Old Highway Building to the first floor of the Mansion Park Building. The new location provides a conference room, ample space for the Consolidated Records Section and more space for all departments.

II. PROGRESS IN PRISON PROGRAMS

A number of prison units have been classified so as to provide a more effective classification program. Two additional camps have been provided for youthful first offenders, making a total of six camps of this type. Yadkin County Prison Camp has been classified for white first offenders between the ages of twenty-one and thirty, thus providing for the segregation of White first offenders above the youth camp age. The Raleigh Youth Center is now in operation to provide the same type of program for young Negro men as is provided for young white men at the Umstead Youth Center. Davie and Transylvania County Camps have been classified to provide for physically handicapped inmates. Work that is commensurate with their abilities is assigned to the inmates at these prison units.

Caledonia Farm has been classified and organized as an honor prison unit for Negroes. Only prisoners who have achieved honor grade status are screened and classified for assignment there. This provides an opportunity for more attention to be focused on management and operation, which has resulted in increased production. Vocational training in agriculture teaches men to work, as well as giving them a skill which they can use when released to civilian life. A library and classroom have been built and equipped; classes on various educational levels are conducted; recreational activities and facilities have been increased.

Six camps have been classified for close custody white felons, and three camps for close custody Negro felons. Factors such as the location of these units or the experience and stability of the custodial forces have been considered so as to make less likely any disciplinary difficulties or successful escapes.

A Food Service School has been organized for the purpose of training selected inmates to prepare, cook, bake, butcher and serve food according to standard recipes and to operate and maintain food service equipment in the Prison Mess. This course will also provide the trainee with necessary skills, working information, and tools of learning essential in the Food Service field. A Food Service Instructor has been employed to assist the Food Service Supervisor in conducting the school.

Permanent collections of books have been established in each of the prison camps and many have bookmobile service furnished by the nearest county library. Subscriptions to magazines have been furnished for all camps and institutions. Literacy classes are conducted at prison units such as the Youth Centers, Women's Prison and Caledonia Farm.

Baseball and softball leagues, boxing tournaments and other recreational activities have been organized among the camps in the prison system. Television is being provided in the place of weekly movies at the camps.

In addition to the regular Religious Services conducted in each of the camps and institutions by ministers and laymen from nearby communities, the North Carolina Council of Churches is cooperating in distributing religious literature and holding services.

The farm program of the North Carolina Prison Department is large in scope as we have under cultivation over 9,000 acres of crop land. The Farm Director has three definite aims in the operation of these farms:

1. To produce the major portion of the food requirement
2. To produce the food more economically
3. To improve the diets of the prisoners

The amount of food to feed approximately 12,000 people each day represents the preparation and serving of 36,000 meals daily.

The beef cattle program at Caledonia Farm is making progress toward the production of the 780,000 pounds of beef needed annually. This farm, with all the other livestock and field crops program, cannot produce the entire requirement. The 800 acres seeded this fall will bring the total acreage of improved pastures up to about 1,500. The goal is 2,600 to 3,000 acres of improved pasture.

All female calves of good quality produced in our herds are being added to the permanent herd. This herd now consists of about 300 cows. Steers are bought each year to supplement the calf crop at the farm. These steers, when bought, weigh about 700 pounds and they are slaughtered at approximately 1,000 pounds.

The Prison System consumes large quantities of pork. A goal of 6,000 head has been set up and will be met. These hogs will be slaughtered to dress 200 pounds each and will have a combined dressed weight of 1,200,000 pounds. Plans are now under way to set up one breeding place for each of the fourteen Highway Divisions. Each breeding point will grow out the feeder pigs for the other camps in the Division. Each camp will be responsible for growing to top weight forty head of hogs each year. Caledonia Farm will grow approximately one-half of the Prison needs or about 2,500 hogs each year and maintain a breeding program adequate to supply the camps with replacements when necessary. Plans are well under way in the construction of new farrowing houses so necessary in a breeding program.

The poultry program is new in the Prison System and will require some capital outlay. After careful study, a start is being made at Caledonia Farm by converting mule barns to laying houses and three old barracks to brooder houses. In November a start was made with a laying flock of 10,000 birds. These hens should supply 6,000 cases of eggs annually, which will be only one-half of the 12,000 cases needed.

Nothing can replace fresh vegetables from the garden. All of the camps except four have land for vegetable growing. Literature and other gardening guides have been prepared and sent to the camps.

The purpose of the canning program is to conserve as much food as possible, improve the quality of the fruits and vegetables and increase the quantity to more adequately supply the requirements. Last year, 1953, the Prison Department canned 219,977 gallons. A goal has been set this year to can 424,844. It is very doubtful that this goal can be reached because of the inadequate facilities. More and better facilities are needed. A cannery will be built and equipped at Transylvania County Prison Camp this year.

Many of the farms need farm equipment but there is not sufficient money to buy this equipment. The requisitions for the equipment that we can buy are being prepared by the Farm Director. Under this system of purchasing equipment, we can buy the type and size to meet the needs of the camp in question.
